From 'Worrying about Emotions' to Generations of Feeling

Prof. Emer. Barbara Rosenwein
Loyola University, Chicago

In this public lecture Barbara Rosenwein will talk about her new book Generations of Feeling: A History of Emotions 600-1700, a comprehensive history of emotions in pre- and early modern Western Europe, in which she explores the feelings expressed in a wide range of 'emotional communities' as well as the theories that served to inform and reflect their times.

Respondent: Dr. Kristine Steenbergh
(Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam)
